RECEPTION FOR STAPLES

The meeting of Winslow-Holbrook Post, A. L., Thursday night, June 17, will take the form of an informal reception and send-off for Past Commander Hector G. Staples, who is going into the State Convention as a candidate for department commander. To increase the very meagre fund now at Mr. Staples' disposal it is proposed to charge 50 cents a plate for the supper, and possibly to have other means of raising money—the entire proceeds going into the contingent fund for the popular Rockland candidate. Mr. Staples finds himself involved in a contest with candidates who are plentifully supplied with funds and influence, and his loyal supporters will need to bend every effort to make his campaign a success. Further interest will be lent to this meeting of June 17 by the fact that there will be election of officers, with installation the same night. The installing officer will be Leslie B. Dyer of Vinalhaven, the county committeeman of the American Legion.

THE POLLOCK ARE SCHOOLING

And You Can Catch 'Em With Any Bait Except Last Year's Tax Bill

Great armies of large, hungry pollock have invaded the waters off the Maine coast and the next week or two is the time for anglers to take them on rod and reel, according to advices from Commissioner Rodney E. Peyler of the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries. "If you have never caught fish until your arms ached, go after pollock with light gear and enjoy one of the best sports available," says the Commissioner.

These fish are especially gamey and range from three to 20 pounds. They will put up a hard fight and the best part of it is that you can get plenty of them. Almost any type of surface lure will attract these fellows—Japanese feathers, tin jigs, etc.

THE ONLY NEW ENGLANDER

Hector Staples Appointed as Member Of the National Veterans' Employment Committee

Hector G. Staples of the Winslow-Holbrook Post No. 1, American Legion, who will be a candidate for Department Commander at the Department Convention to be held this ed a member of the National Veterans' Employment Committee.

This appointment is an honor of considerable importance due to the fact that Legionnaire Staples was the only man chosen from the New England States and in fact the only man representing the North Atlantic States except Delaware.

It is understood that the headquarters will be at the Legion Administration building, Indianapolis, and that among the committees varied duties will be to help sponsor legislation favorable to unemployed ex-service men.

Members of the Winslow-Holbrook Post claim "Hec" to be the busiest Legionnaire in the State at the present time. As department membership chairman he has within the past year traveled over 6000 miles which has resulted in the State having the largest membership ever obtained, denoting that he does not spare time or strength fulfilling any task undertaken by him.

At the last meeting the following publicity committee was appointed to help Staples in his run for department commander: Levi R. Flint, chairman; Basil Stinson, Herbert Mullen, Augustus Huntley, Austin Brewer, Lawrence Hamlin and Oliver Hamlin.

CAMPAIGN ENDS JUNE 19

Interest At Fever Pitch As Subscription Contest Enters Home Stretch

It is exactly two weeks before the Courier-Gazette great prize campaign comes to an official close. Seven grand prizes await the winners.

Are you fully impressed with the importance of those two facts? Approximately seven weeks ago you enrolled yourself as a candidate and determined to carry off one of the valuable prizes and actively took the field to gather subscriptions to the Courier-Gazette.

At that time the first list of candidates was published approximately 40 nominations were included in the list.

Things are different now. Scores have failed to show the stamina and stickability necessary to be winners and one by one have dropped by the wayside. Competition has pruned the list until now only fourteen remain in the campaign and you are one of the few who remained—tried by the fire of competition, tested by the acid of real work. You're classed as a work-, not a drone.

The point of all this is, that having stuck to the bitter end for seven weeks, your greatest crisis is faced during the last two weeks of the drive.

The pace is hot, it is getting hotter every day. Candidates are working and working hard. Subscriptions are being secured on all sides and they're secured on a big scale.

How about yourself? Can you

THE HERRING ARE COMING

"Little fishes biled in ile" are ruling the Maine coast at the present moment, and whistles on all of the sardine factories are sounding their merry refrain.

The Ramsdell Packing Co.'s whistle is silent for the moment, however, because a consignment of oil, due at the factory last week was inconsiderate enough to get itself tangled up in a train wreck. The pack thus far had been very satisfactory.

The William Underwood Co. resumed operations yesterday with close to 175 persons on the payroll. The first arrival of fish consisted of about 400 bushels of herring brought by the smack Ernest Lowell, Capt. C. J. Crowley, from the Eugene Rockliff weirs at Wheeler's Bay. This was closely followed by a similar fare brought by the smack International, Capt. Ashton Alley.

MEANS A PENALTY

For Those Who Fail To Comply With the Federal Security Law

Employers of eight or more, who have failed to make returns in accordance with the provisions of Title Nine of the Social Security Act, which imposes an excise tax on employers, commonly known as the unemployment compensation tax, were Friday warned by Collector of Internal Revenue Clinton A. Clauson that they faced delinquent penalties ranging from 5 per cent to 25 per cent of the tax their pay rolls call for. The returns are to be made on Internal Revenue form 940 and were due on April 1, last.

Collector Clauson referred to Article 502 of Regulations 90, which provides that "failure to file a return when due causes to accrue, under the provisions of section 406 of the Revenue Act of 1935, a penalty" as above stated "depending upon the degree of delinquency." Employers were granted an extension of time for the filing of returns and paying the tax until April 1 by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Heilvering.

The Social Security Act, Mr. Clauson explained, calls for a pay roll tax of one percent on the 1936 pay roll containing eight or more persons on each of some twenty days during the taxable year, each day being in a different calendar week. Each employer is entitled to a credit of 90 per cent of his federal tax, provided he has contributed at least this amount to unemployment compensation funds established by the states in conjunction with the Federal Social Security Law in which he has employees.

Collector Clauson said that recognition of the following facts by all employers would remove a great deal of the confusion that apparently exists as to the provisions of Title IX of the Social Security Act:

The employer's excise tax, provided for under Title IX of the Social Security Act is separate and apart from the employer's excise tax and the employer's income tax provided for under Title VIII of the same act. Participation in one does not exempt an employer from participation in the other.

Officers of corporations are considered employees for taxable purposes.

No federal credit is allowed an employer for a state contribution unless the said state contribution is paid prior to the due date of the return.

Employers alone pay the tax levied under Title IX.

MEXICO AT CLOSE RANGE

As Described By Mrs. E. M. Lawrence At the Educational Club Meeting

The Woman's Educational Club met Friday at the Rockport home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lawrence, with 45 members present. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Mary Perry Rich, the meeting was called to order by the vice president, Mrs. Rebecca Ingraham.

The session opened with Miss Bertha Orbeton reading questions on American history. Mrs. Ida Simmons, first vice president, led the proceedings on the study of the Constitution.

Prof. Harry T. Baker of Goucher College, guest speaker of the afternoon, treated the subject, "The Supreme Court and the President," after which an open forum was held and discussions waxed active. Mrs. Minnie Rogers read a paper on "Gone With the Wind" and general comments were made regarding this best seller. Mrs. Ida Simmons' choice of an article was "Frances Willard."

It was voted to hold a public forum Sunday in the Congregational vestry. At the luncheon period, coffee salad and cakes were served by the hostess.

The evening session began with patriotic devotions conducted by the following members: Mrs. Fannie Dow, American's Creed; Mrs. Hazel Woodward, Lord's Prayer; Mrs. Nettie Stewart, Gettysburg Address; Preamble to Constitution, Miss Bertha Orbeton. A committee to draw up resolutions for the Sunday Forum was nominated consisting of the following members: Mrs. Sleeper, Mrs. Nettie Stewart, Mrs. Ida Simmons, Mrs. Minnie Rogers, Mrs. Etta Covell.

The Club then had the pleasure of listening to a most entertaining talk by the hostess on her recent trip to Mexico, which had set aside many previous conceptions which she had about that country. She related many interesting facts, saying that the highest form of civilization had been developed on the American continent in Mexico long before Columbus made his discovery, and that there is little doubt that this civilization dates back 5000 years.

One of the surprises which she encountered was the pyramids which are larger and more wonderful than the pyramids of Egypt. She was also much impressed by the skill in architecture.

"The early Mexicans had a knowledge of astronomy not exceeded at the present time," she went on to say, "and the methods of calculating which they developed were as clever as ours at the present time with all we have been able to draw from Europe."

She also called attention to the fact their social life was finer than ours at the present time. After the arrival from the north of the Aztecs, who were primarily an agricultural people many changes took place. The land was divided amongst the people. When a person

CAME BY BIKE

Brooklynites Spend Hour In Rockland, Then On To Belfast

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ringer, 961 Washington avenue Brooklyn, were in Rockland about an hour Sunday afternoon. They came from New York to Portland by overnight train, arriving in Portland Saturday morning, from which point they traveled by bicycles to Bath that day.

Mr. Ringer said that it was their second vacation trip to Maine by bike, but on the other trip they did not see the coast. Their itinerary, carefully worked out, showed runs from Bath to Belfast; Belfast on to Bar Harbor; then back through Bangor, Oakland, Rumford and into New Hampshire.

They travel on English made bicycles, both practically alike, with two gears and handle bar brakes which act on the inside of the metal rims. They arrived in Rockland at about quarter of five, had supper at Newbert's Restaurant, and around half past five pedaled on toward Belfast, their next scheduled overnight stopping place.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

DAFFODILS

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd—
A host of golden daffodils,
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the Milky Way,
They stretched in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced, but they
Outdid the sparkling waves in glee:
A poet could not but be gay
In such a jocund company:
I gazed—and gazed—but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought.

For oft, when on my couch I lie,
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.

A BAS THE PEST

Affirming the fact that here once more the season unfolds upon us when that revolutionary pest, the Tent Caterpillar, equally saddens life and scenery, a correspondent writes to the newspaper, questioning why some concerted action might not be brought to bear upon the subject.

There are Boy Scouts Clubs and Girl Scout Clubs also, the writer says, that plentifully hike and bike along the highways where the pests offer themselves for destruction. With some little training these bright young people could do a world of good in destroying these pests that menace agriculture in every form and lay an awful blot on the scenery. "Let old and young take a hand in the work."

The Courier-Gazette has annually made a point of bringing this matter to the attention of the public, and is glad to sound anew the tocsin that ought to rally every lover of the beautiful; and especially those of our people who are aiming with hard-working garden clubs and other forms of beautification, to sell our State of Maine to the other parts of the world as a chief region of recreation, but impossible if the Tent Caterpillar is allowed to run riot.

Wherefore, with our city's many ambitious citizens, mostly of the gentler sex, busy by the day lengthened into evening, making the gardens bloom, comes naturally to the eye that famous English poem by Thomas Edward Brown, a century gone but ever remembered:

"A Garden is a lovesome thing, God wot! Rose plot, fringed pool, ferned grot. The very soul of peace: And yet the foot contends that God is not."

Not God! In gardens when the eve is cool? Nay, but I have a sign: 'Tis very sure God walks in mine."

SCHOOL EXHIBIT

Public Had a Chance To See What H. S. Students Are Doing

Many persons stopped in front of the Masonic building Saturday afternoon and evening, and many of them went into the tenement store on the ground floor to see what it was all about.

And what they saw was an exhibition of school products made and arranged by students of Rockland High School.

The exhibits were from Miss Salmond's French classes; Miss Parker's English groups; Miss Tower's mathematics and Miss Haskell's commercial pupils; Sub. Master Durrell's students of physics, chemistry and general science; Miss deRochemont's class of civics; Miss Stahl's English division; Miss Stevens' domestic science class of coming homemakers; Miss Addition's English I and II divisions; Albert McCarty's Latin and English students, and Daniel Chick's carpenters and cabinet makers.

The exhibits from the Manual Training department formed what is known as an "eye-opener," to use a slang phrase. A wide variety of objects was shown, reflecting credit to the youthful manufacturers and to the training which is being given by Mr. Chick.

TWO C. G. STATIONS

One At Isle au Haut and One At Schoodic—The Senate Passes Bill

The Senate yesterday passed the bill providing for new Coast Guard stations on Schoodic Peninsula and Isle au Haut. The bill is an authorization and carries no money. The Treasury Department approves the two stations and proposes to construct them at Frazier's Point, on Schoodic, and at Head Harbor, on Isle au Haut.

The bill for Schoodic was introduced by Representative Brewster and the Isle au Haut bill by Representative Clyde H. Smith. Senator White engineered their way through the Senate, after previous House passage.

The two stations would eliminate the present station at Cranberry Island. There is no immediate prospect of construction of the Maine stations, since the treasury is working on a Coast Guard replacement program by priorities and there are several ahead of Maine.

A RADIANT MEMORY

Former Thomaston Girl Tells Of Holiday Which To Her Outshone All Others

To me when a child the high water mark of the year was reached on Memorial, or "Decoration Day." That was the day of days. Birthdays, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving, Christmas, all paled before it. Had it been necessary I would have sacrificed one and all of the other holidays in order to retain this one. It made a four-fold appeal to me. It appealed to my love of excitement, to my fondness for band music, to my sentimentality and to my patriotism.

"Way down in Maine" the spring season is sometimes late. Frequently this is the first summerlike day. Many a year the apple trees were not in bloom at that time. It mattered considerably whether or not they were; for wreaths had to be made for the graves of all the departed soldiers and if apple blossoms were not out there was a scarcity of other flowers as well.

There was a large and active Grand Army Post in the town in my girlhood days. "The Boys in Blue" had become men in their prime. Their ranks were fairly full and they were all in marching trim. The procession, headed by the cornet band, formed at the "Corner." The veterans, in uniform, bearing wreaths on their arms, marched to the cemetery about half a mile away. There, while the band played a dirge, the wreaths and flags were placed on the graves of all the departed soldiers of the Civil and other wars and a cross of flowers set up at the entrance to the cemetery in honor of the "absent dead." In the same impressive way the procession then returned to Union Hall for the oration. I started when the procession started, went the rounds of the cemetery as near as I was allowed to go, and rushed back breathless to make sure of a seat in the hall. Once I got into such a jam that I was literally carried off my feet and was at the top of the stairs before I could extricate myself from the throng.

As I look back now I think I know the chief reason why the day appealed to me. Before the oration was delivered the roll of the "honored dead" was read. The reader began with the names of the Revolutionary soldiers, then came the names of those who had served in the War of 1812. My mother's father had served in that war and when the name, "Joshua Morton," rolled from the speaker's lips the thrills went up and down my spinal column until I shook like a leaf.

My father had not served in the Civil War. He was not drafted, and he did not volunteer. How he ever kept out of it was a mystery to me. I would have given myself to my country just for the privilege of marching in this Decoration Day parade, if nothing more. After repeated questioning mother said that his father had a horror of war. That he wasn't willing for father to enlist and had been drafted "he stood ready" to hire a substitute to go in his stead. In spite of the ugly name that was given to Northerners who assumed such an attitude during that crisis he was unyielding and father stayed at home.

When I saw other men, neighbors whom I knew, not only marching, but playing in the band as well, I was forlorn. Why did father listen to my grandfather? These men had come back from the war, few were wounded, and surely father would have come back safely, too. Of course he would! Then he could have taken his place in the parade and my happiness would have been complete.

While I would not have had him numbered among the "absent dead" and would not have been thrilled to hear his name read from the list of the "honored dead," yet I do know that I would have sacrificed all of my dead relatives if I could have heard their names read from the sacred roll.

When the oration was over I was limp from excitement. Fortunately the day came only once a year. I needed that length of time in which to recuperate.

AT STRAND WEDNESDAY-THURSDAY

A pause in the chase. Miriam Hopkins and Joel McCrea stop to catch their breath in "Woman Chases Man."—adv.

Miriam learns that McCrea has a fortune, but is a very cautious young man. She determines to separate him from the 100 grand—and the chase is on!

Relentlessly she pursues him through a series of the most screamingly funny situations that have ever been concocted in the imagination of a group of movie scenarists. And, of course, romance blossoms by the way-side.

But long before Miriam gets her man, well, we'll be holding your sides, howling your head off and begging for mercy—so quick and thick and fast do the laughs come in this welcome film riot.

John Blustone did a perfect job of directing on "Woman Chases Man" from a screen play which Joseph Anthony, Manuel Seff and David Hertz prepared from a story by Lynn Root and Frank Fenton.—adv.

'Twas WALDOBORO'S DAY

Hitting For Total Of 27 Bases Lincoln County Boys Won Tri-County Championship

Waldoboro High School won the championship of the Tri-County League Saturday, defeating Warren High 14 to 7 in a game which was played on the neutral Thomaston diamond. The crowd, which was a strongly partisan one, would have been much larger had there been time to get word to the fans.

The base hit column tells the story in a nutshell. Warren made but five singles off the three Waldoboro pitchers, while the new champions were making 18 hits for a grand total of 27 bases. Leading in this terrific barrage was Hilton, who made three singles and a double in five trips to the platter, and he was closely followed by Ellis, who made a single.

Warren held a one-score lead, when the fifth inning started, but the Waldoboro team cut loose with four singles and these with an infield error netted the Lincoln County lads four runs. Warren tied the score in the sixth, but in the next two innings Waldoboro paraded the base paths like nobodies business. The score:

HAPPY HOPE FARM

The Caterpillar and the Sword-Bearer—Memorial Day Thoughts

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Beautiful June is with us again and nature is arrayed in fragrant and lovely attire. Here are a few interesting things I have noticed in my work about the farm. A wee humming bird, his tiny feathers gleaming with bronze gold sheen, was noted trying to find a way through the window glass to reach the geraniums, gay with red and pink blossoms. In exasperation he even tried to drill through the glass with his needle like bill.

There are many tent caterpillar nests about, and I saw that some seemed to have their tenants destroyed, with only a few "bones" left (if a caterpillar has bones) to show that the worms had not been carried away bodily by some bird. I wondered if an epidemic had struck them and then it occurred to me that it must be the work of my little friends, the "sword bearers." You can look up the name of the family in some book on insects, but to me they're always been sword bearers since I discovered them at work when I was a small girl.

Eating wild berries you will make up a terrible face and spit him out hastily if you happen to get one of these useful insects in your mouth. You'll say, "Ugh! I got one of those stink bugs in my mouth."

That little insect was one of my sword bearers. You will find him in numerous colors and shapes, gray, green, red and black, white etc., with contrasting markings and odd shapes. But you will know him by the sword he carries beneath his body. He is on the berry bush to eat the green worms that infest it and it was just his hard luck—and yours—that you popped him into your mouth.

So I wasn't surprised when I found several of these insects feasting on a tent caterpillar's nest. Two of the little warriors had a squirming, hairy enemy impaled on their swords, while another sword bearer was stalking his prey, his tiny blade unfolded from beneath his body and pointing straight forward, like a lancer going into the fray. Suddenly he darted forward and the caterpillar found himself impaled on the sharp point. Then I imagine the sword bearer injects a quieting poison through the blade, which has a hollow tube through it. When the worm ceases its squirming, it's conquerer draws its life juices through the tube.

It was interesting to watch Mr. Phoebe and his mate build their nest. They have taken possession of a small building we used to smoke alewives last year. Mrs. Phoebe started her nest on the inch wide end of a board nailed against the wall of the building. With mud, straw and hair she carefully built a foundation, for a neat nest of straw, lined with hair. No human mason, with many tools at his command, could have done a better job than this little gray bird, with only her bill to work with. I didn't see Mr. Phoebe helping, but he perched near and did a lot of talking, interspersed with frequent repetitions of "Phoebe! Phoebe-bee!"

We had the privilege of attending the Memorial Day exercises in Rockland and the Sunday before visited with relatives in Augusta, stopping at the Soldier's Home enroute. The cemetery there with its row upon row of white markers, each with its small flag, was impressive but sad. Their last resting place is amid the beauty of nature. I copied two of the verses on the tablets beside the main drive way for I thought them particularly appropriate.

"Your own proud land's heroic soil Must be your fitter grave. She claims from war her richest spoil, The ashes of the brave."

"On fame's eternal camping ground, Their silent tents are spread, And glory guards with solemn round The bivouac of the dead."

In life with broken bodies and disillusioned hearts, but in death to lie amid the stately trees, their blanket the verdant grass. We trust that their brave spirits have found in the presence of their Creator the happiness and trust that grim war took from them, with its dreadful memories of hate and carnage.

Title Wrestling Bout To Be Staged In Augusta Tomorrow Night

Dr. John "Drop Kick" Murphy of Boston will defend his Junior Heavyweight Crown in a one fall match to a positive finish, with Cleve Welch the Buffalo assassin, in the semi-final bout of the Danno O'Mahony vs. Jumping Joe Kujot wrestling melee at Augusta City Hall Wednesday night.

The junior heavyweight title is the only wrestling title in the world that is undisputed. Thirty-six junior heavyweight wrestlers from all parts of the world participated in the tourney, which was run off by elimination. Murphy was the only wrestler to come through the entire tourney without a loss of a fall or decision.

The title carries with it a $5000 diamond studded gold belt, which is at stake in every title match.

Murphy will wear the belt into the ring Wednesday night, and should Welch be declared the winner, he will be the man to wear the belt out of the ring.

Local Legionnaires attended the "wreck" of the 40 and 8 at Belfast Sunday. Eight candidates were put through the paces.

The Courier-Gazette hears frequent protests against bicycle riding on the sidewalks. It is exceedingly dangerous for pedestrians who do not hear the machines coming from behind. In this day when every effort is being made for public safety on the highways, special efforts should also be made for pedestrians' safety on the sidewalks.

The hit of the evening at the Fire Department's annual balf in Community Hall will be the personal appearance of Miss Jennie Staples, whom the Department has named "Baby Chief." Jennie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Staples, and only four years old, but can she do an acrobatic dance? And this will be one feature of tonight's entertainment.

Mayor L. A. Thurston yesterday urged improvement of Rockland Harbor at a hearing on the project arranged at the War Department by Representative Clyde H. Smith who also appeared at the hearing. Thurston pointed out that the improvement is necessary to permit entry of larger boats, which now are unable to use the harbor. President Roosevelt is one of the would-be users who was unable to enter. Thurston said.

The Sagadahoc Rod, Gun & Skeet Association, Inc., of Bath, will sponsor a registered field trial for coon hounds next Sunday, at Merrymeeting Park, Brunswick. A field of 75 to 100 dogs will be running. Prizes will be $50 for "tree" dog and $15 for "line." In addition there will be the customary awards for "tree" and "line" dogs in each heat. The first heat is scheduled for 9 a. m., and the trials will continue through the day.

Tommy Regan, who was signed to meet Abe Nathan of Portland in the main bout at the Potato Bowl, injured his eye in an exhibition bout with Jerry Duprey of Bangor. He again opened the cut while in training for his coming fight with Nathan. As the latter will probably battle Thursday night in Portland, Matchmaker O'Brien decided to cancel the fight rather than take a chance on having to find substitutes for either of them at the last minute. Regan will not engage in any fistic encounters, until June 25, in order that his eye may have time to heal. On that date he will probably face Jimmie McDougal of Augusta at the Potato Bowl. McDougal holds a decision over Regan and Tommy and Jimmie are bitter enemies.

Called into the Thorndike Hotel dining room "to meet an old friend," Capt. Charles R. Magee found himself confronted by many of them—the occasion being a complimentary banquet contrived as a surprise by Mrs. Ella Newman. The guests were Seth Atwell, who has succeeded Capt. Magee as deputy collector of customs; Robert Appleby and Edward Weeks of Portland; Judge Edward K. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. John Newman, Mrs. Alfred Fredette, Roger Kallouch, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Miss Elizabeth Clark, Miss Virginia Burns, Miss Charlotte Colby and Miss Nina Greeley. In his happy capacity as toastmaster, Judge Gould paid fitting tribute to the guest of honor and the capable service he gave as deputy collector. Capt. Magee made blushing and grateful acknowledgment.

We have all heard of the "Three men in a boat" there were three at Crescent Beach who went a fishing. One had a bite and began pulling in the line, and it pulled hard. His companions held and after 10 or 15 minutes a huge head with large protruding eyes, came to the surface and was pulled into the boat, a 50 pound cod! And this, my children, is a true bed time story as Ed, Linc and Ellis will tell you.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—I noted the death of Hermie Rawley in last week's paper.

Another old schoolmate gone! Not many of them left now that played down at the "Creek" when I was sweet 16.

How many remember Emmie Rawley, Hermie's sister? I remember the day Emmie was buried. Jennie Robinson was her Sunday School teacher. On the same day was held the Kelloch reunion, one of the high spots of the summer entertainment. Jennie went to Emmie's home with a beautiful bouquet before going to the reunion. Dear Jennie!

THE KIWANIS CLUB

Last Night's Program: What Do You Know About Your City?

The weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club was held last night with a 93 percent attendance. For another week the club was able to look on the beautiful cup won for the month of May, but seeing the attendance has fallen down the last few weeks it is feared that this will be the last week the cup remains in Rockland.

A report was given by Lieut. Bowness of the Salvation Army on the project which is about at a finish with the children along the line of arts and crafts. The girls have dressed some fine looking dolls and the boys will this week finish a number of the model flying planes.

The program in charge of Lew Cook went over big. It was in form of a questionnaire on "Do you know your Town?" Seemingly we know all about it, but the size of the industrial payroll.

TRADE AGREEMENT

Cong. Smith Canvassing the Shoe Situation — Czecho-Slovakia Imports

Representative Smith of Maine will take up with the State Department this week the question of including shoes in the trade agreement with Czecho-Slovakia now being negotiated.

Trade agreements run for three years. The increasing importation of shoes from Czecho-Slovakia is causing so much concern to domestic shoe manufacturers that they have sought increased tariff protection, even embargo. If shoes are included in a trade agreement, they could not be touched by tariff measures during the life of the agreement. Several members from shoe districts have asked the State Department to leave shoes out of the agreement, including Rogers and Wigglesworth of Massachusetts.

There is some feeling that the agreement might carry an import quota which would help, however, whereas increased tariff might be hard to get. Smith will canvass the situation before acting.

Smith was the target Friday night for questions on the President's wage and hour bill by retail dealers from 42 States.

The dealers were in Washington for sessions of the Retail Dealers Federation of America and were seeking information from Smith who is a member of the House Labor Committee and has been sitting at the joint hearing of the House and Senate labor committee on the bill.

Besides being a member of a sub-committee of the House Committee on the Elsenbogen bill to set up a "little NRA" for the textile industry.

Smith said the dealers were neither for nor against the bill, which provides a board to establish minimum wage and maximum hours for workers below the $1200 annual wage class. Smith said he found a most commendable attitude of consideration among the gathering of business men.

This community was sadly shocked upon learning of the death Monday of one of its best loved citizens, Addison M. Parker. Although Mr. Parker had been ill for a long time, during the past week he seemed much improved and his death came as a sudden blow to his many friends.

He was born in Sorrento March 18, 1873, son of Edwin and Nancy Parker. Early in life he moved to Swan's Island where he had lived for 45 years.

He spent his early years as a stone-cutter but later engaged in the lobster and fishing business.

He was deputy sheriff for several years, a charter member of the I.O.O.F. also an officer in the lodge for many years. Deceased was highly respected by all who knew him—a kind neighbor and generous friend, always ready to lend a hand to those less fortunate than himself. For several years he had done barbering for the island residents and was affectionately known as "Parker, the barber."

In 1885 he was married to Minnie Gott of this place by whom he was faithfully cared for until his death.

The funeral was held Wednesday at the Advent Church, Rev. Vernon Bodge officiating. Floral offerings were beautiful. Interment was in Atlantic. The bearers were Odd Fellows and that lodge held services at the grave.

He leaves his wife Minnie; son Charles of Portland; daughter, Beatrice Simmons of Spruce Head; seven grandchildren; sisters Mrs. Edna Culliffe of Brookline, Mrs. Robert Linnell of Pawtucket, R. I.; and nephew George Bartlett of Sorrento.

but forceful language, Mr. Hyssong laid before the graduates the failure that must necessarily come to a life lived without a purpose and with no definite object in view. Comparing their life to a high sea voyage he warned them to fear not so much the pirates without as the pirates within, which could rob them of their manhood and womanhood, their purity, self respect and bring ultimate disaster.

He said, "If you would succeed in life, shape your course with these three things in mind: 'Be honest, be true; do not trust to luck (you will find things do not simply happen. They come as a result of laws in force) and lastly, keep Jesus Christ as the keystone in the Arch of Life.'"

2 After a smart take-off (above), Dorothy uses the weight and position of her head to spin her body around. This shows her mid-air position.

3 Instead of the "pike" with body bent at hips—Dorothy executes the somersault the hard way—by the "layout" with body outstretched.

4 With hardly a stir, Dorothy cuts into the water. It's a perfect dive. And gives you a good idea of how healthy Dorothy Poynton Hill's nerves are.

The Assembly president, Mrs. Osgood spoke very enthusiastically of the manner in which Miriam Rebekah Lodge had played the part of host of the large gathering. Other grand officers also spoke briefly after which the Lodge closed in the ordinary manner, but not before Mrs. Osgood stated emphatically how much pleased she was to award the certificate of merit to the host lodge, and said it was the nicest district meeting she had attended this year. All lodges in District 16 were represented except Swan's Island.

FOR PATRIOTIC PURPOSES

Programs Of D. U. V. Are Concerned With Flag Day and Other National Observances

At the meeting last night of Ruth Mayhew Tent, D.U.V., several matters of importance were disposed of, among them the election and installation of senior vice president. Mrs. Maud Cables was elected and installed in a pleasing manner by Mrs. Carrie House, past president, and installing officer. All reports were approved by the president, Mrs. Priscilla Smith. The chairman of the floral committee, Mrs. Doris Ames reported sending cards to several sick members of the order.

Donations were voted for the Southern Memorial Fund, this money to be used by the G.A.R. to decorate the graves of the Union soldiers buried in the Southland. A donation to the Silver Jubilee Fund and a love gift to the Department President, Marie Patterson of Hallowell, were made.

Readings appropriate for Flag Day by the patriotic instructor and cautions on usage of the flag were read by Mrs. Cables. Remarks by Mrs. Cross on observations during her trip to Washington last September told of activities of the Boy Scouts in the parade, concerning proper use of the flag and often removing the national emblem that was being used for decorations in improper ways.

The Daughters, as well as other patriotic organizations, have distributed many flag codes among the citizens and school children during the past year, requests coming from the islands and other places having a limited library.

Communication from the Elks was read and an invitation to attend Flag Day services was accepted. It is hoped that members will take advantage of the fine program being promised.

Mrs. Josie Lothrop and Mrs. Olive Crockett had charge of the supper preceding the meeting.

Mrs. Ruby Allen of Rockland favored with a vocal number, accompanied by Mrs. Edna White; and there were readings by Mrs. Mildred Gammon and Miss Bertha Storer. Mrs. Beulah Studley was winner of the contest. Mrs. Hazel Bowers and Mrs. Hattie Rines of Waldoboro were in charge of the program.

The first officers were: President, Mrs. Belle Wilder; vice president, Mrs. Sadie Bates Russell; secretary, Mrs. Addie Snow Waltz; treasurer, Mrs. Martha Ann Newbert. At the third meeting it was voted that penny dues be paid, this collection given then to the Waldoboro Methodist Church. An outing was held each year. Then the club began to do social work such as making quilts and other bedding and presenting them to the needy.

Mens' night was begun in 1909, with a supper at the home of Mrs. Mary Benner. The club's motto is, "Look up, not down; look forward, not backward; look out, not in; and lend a hand."

The Social Club, while standing primarily for social intermingling of its members, has conferred many community benefits.

The double ring service was used.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white organdy. She was attended by two friends, Miss Bada Emery of Camden and Miss Lydia Leighton of Rockland.

The fishing industry is due to get one of its biggest boosts after July 1st when it will start benefitting from the fund provided for the Maine Development Commission by the Legislature of the $200,000 available annually for the Commission, the sum of $50,000 is earmarked for promoting our agricultural and sea and shore fisheries products. Representative Albert Elliot of Thomaston engineered the fishing industry into this set-up and about $25,000 will go towards creating better markets, demand and supply of our seafoods. This is the first time in history that such action has been taken and it should be of great help.

Gov. Barrows and members of his Council, Executive Secretary Gration of the Development Commission and members of that group are much interested in the movement to rebuild and rehabilitate the fisheries and have pledged their full cooperation. They say that the industry should and will get its fair share of help and encouragement. The Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries has been or will be made a member of the Commission at the start of the next bi-ennial.

Plans and a definite program for expending this money will be drawn up in the near future by the Commission working in close cooperation with this Department. An effort will be made to get the fisheries on a firm footing and great care will be taken to choose the best steps. This activity will be similar to that adopted by other states as much as 10 years ago and several of the Canadian provinces. Several new and unique features are under advisement in order to create a nationwide demand for our products.

Some fishery notes—The Georges Bank scallop fishermen ran into exceptionally good beds in May and two Rockland boats made record trips—Capt. Charles Carver brought the Madeline and Flora in with 2400 gallons while Capt. Howard Anderson and his small Alice May got over 1200 gallons—these are the largest trips for four years—Capt. Arthur Bain of Owls Head has completed his maiden trip in his new draggers landing a good catch in New Bedford, he will start running to Maine ports next trip.

This Department's promotion department has presented movies and lectures on the fishing industry to 127 different organizations in all parts of the State since last October. This work has been done by Dick Reed and we receive many praises for this work. It gives the public a new insight on the work of the Department and the importance of the industry as well as to establish a stable market for a part of our seafoods here in Maine. With the coming tourist season we urge restaurants and hotels to make more effort to push sea products—many visitors are attracted to the coast principally for our shore dinners.

Lobster rearing starts at Boothbay Harbor soon as the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries Hatchery—this work will give the Department some valuable experience for its own hatchery to be put into operation next Spring.

Deep sea fishing parties are now the vogue and it looks like a great year for this sort of activity. It's pretty hard to find a better outing than to take a crowd out on the fishing grounds, best to get an early start and fish until noon—then go ashore on some island, cook up a fish chowder and spend the rest of the day in exploration—top this off with a moonlight sail back to port and you have had something—expense is low, all this for around $1 per person.

MEXICO AT CLOSE RANGE

property having been confiscated. This was considered to be due to the greed of church officials who exacted large sums from the communicants for building expensive church property.

Mexico City, with its beautiful buildings and population of over 1,000,000, made quite an impression, as did the cooking methods of the inhabitants who served food in edible containers. The floating gardens made on rafts which sometimes take root and form islands were most attractive. Young squaws in canoes sold beautiful bunches of flowers for the equivalent of two or three cents in our money.

A castle occupied by Napoleon and Maximilian when they attempted to conquer Mexico has been used until recently by Mexican presidents. The last president, being an Indian, lives elsewhere as he does not favor living in a castle. The city is over 7000 feet above sea level and is surrounded by mountains. The people of the city are friendly, smile readily, saying "Adios," by way of greeting to strangers.

In the course of her talk Mrs. Lawrence exhibited an unusual display of choice souvenirs from Mexico. These included beautifully carved articles, handmade lace, shopping bags of reed and raffia in brilliant rainbow colors, a most beautiful shawl of unusual design. Nearly all articles were completely handmade as the Mexicans do much weaving on their hand looms and make their own dyes which produce clear and brilliant colors. An effort has been made to restore Aztec designs, each district or town specializing on some design or article; even the children are trained to do certain things such as color a stripe or carve a snake or eagle. They often work with very crude instruments, each member of the family doing a certain part of the work, the children frequently knowing how to do the work of their parents. She was able to purchase a piece of gold for about 7c. Surprisingly good articles were purchased for equivalent of 25c the peso being worth about 27c in our money.

The Mexican likes to barter and acts disappointed when he does not have this opportunity even though he secures a higher price. Especially interesting was basket with the face of a man, who, according to tradition, came and taught them they must worship a God above and everywhere, that he was a son of this God and was to go back to Him. The squaws carry loads of these souvenirs great distances, sometimes twenty miles. One souvenir afforded an example of an ancient method of photography and was only priced at about 27 cents though it was possibly 5000 years old.

Mr. Lawrence then added some of his impressions of Mexico, describing the trip up from the coast, which is now made by electric trains. Vera Cruz on the coast has a tropical climate, but Mexico City, being so elevated, is cool, overcoats being needed at night.

He found the hotel accommodation excellent with choice of American or Mexican food. Methods of serving were different as two of the waitresses who could speak English took the orders and gave them to several non-English speaking waitresses who all took part in serving one person.

An American $10 bill would fill all of the average person's pockets.

In the course of his travels Mr. Lawrence found one community whose sole occupation was cane making. He tried to purchase some canes for $1 but the men held off until the approach of a train when he secured four for $1.

He spoke of a pyramid covering 500 acres near which was an amphitheatre and the ruins of an ancient church with a place for the king to sit when witnessing sacrifices. To build these ancient edifices some 8 feet thick it was necessary for large numbers of men to carry heavy loads from the mountains.

While in Mexico Mr. Lawrence witnessed a bull fight at about $2 of our money. Although a bull fight is considered a great occasion in Mexico, he considers it a most unsportsmanlike performance as the odds from start to finish were against the bull. Ten or twelve men with two or three horses torment the bull, the matador gets him exhausted then takes a spear and kills him.—By Marguerite Gould.

What's this picture doing in a gasoline ad?

SHOPPERS searching for bigger values! Buyers looking for a greater dollar's worth! What's this got to do with gasoline buying?

It's got a lot to do with it! Plenty to do with it!

Why? Because these shoppers are looking for greater values! And you ought to apply the same thinking to gasoline. You buy gasoline more frequently than other purchases. It is an important item in your family's budget. You owe it to yourself to go where values are!

American Gas has always been the best regular gasoline buy. But now we have created an even bigger buy! A new gas of greater value!

Science has recently found a way to give you a new value in regular gasoline. Value not possible before—because the facilities did not exist to make it. New processes were perfected... patented. New additions made to what was already the world's greatest refining unit. We doubled our capacity... improved the gas. We are now able to build-in—refine-in—extra values that mean a lot to you and your car.

The new gas is ready—NOW! And because of its extra built-in values we call it New Value American Gas. It means New Value for you—greater value for your gasoline dollar... greater value from the money already invested in your automobile. It is known as a "sweet" gas—meaning it's pure, free from undesirable odors—and no added chemicals. You'll say it gives "sweet" performance, too, in your car.

Buy your gas on VALUE—and you will buy the New Value American Gas!

INSIDE NEWS FROM THE NATION'S CAPITOL

By Dan Gilbert

Inflation

Former Vice President Charles Gates Dawes precipitated an explosion a few days ago when he announced that all business cycles pointed toward another depression by the autumn of 1939.

How can inflation be avoided? This is the question which has arisen like an ominous spectre in the minds of conscientious officials.

Inflation and revolution always go hand in hand. When money loses its value, blood inevitably flows in gutters. Try to imagine what it would mean if the money in your pocket, and the money in your local bank, should completely lose its purchasing power.

A Russian friend of mine who passed through the terrors of the Bolshevik revolution 20 years ago, says he paid the equivalent to $50,000 for a pound of beef. He took two half-bushel baskets full of paper money into a Russian store, and came out with one pound of meat.

Prior to the Hitler revolution, some people in Germany papered their rooms with "money" because it was cheaper than wall-paper.

Here are stubborn facts for serious minded Americans to think about: The Washington government has piled up a national debt of approximately 40 billion dollars. Should the value of government bonds suddenly slump, there would be another so-called "bank holiday"—and you can imagine the rest!

The vaults of all financial organizations, banking houses, insurance companies, etc., are loaded with these artistically printed bonds. Should the government be forced to redeem them, paper money would have to be printed. When the printing presses start, then it's too late to save the ship. Any planning to relieve the situation must be done in advance.

A colored deacon said to his pastor: "I always pray when I get into trouble." The parson's very sensible reply was: "You all better pray before you get into trouble."

A spasm of inflation in the United States would be followed by dictatorship. This was the order of events in Italy, Russia and Germany. Nations, like individuals, dare not become careless in their spending.

When I was in Washington a few days ago, I heard "inflation" talked on every hand, accompanied with the announcement that John Lewis was being groomed to follow Roosevelt as President or dictator.

Personally, I do not believe that our present plight is the result of natural disorders. I am convinced, in my own mind, that a small group of men possess sufficient power to plan and produce economic panics for the purpose of advancing their vicious and selfish aims.

Anyway—common sense tells us that the government cannot go on forever, paying out $2 for every $1 it takes in.

Economy, the elimination of waste, an abrupt end to political corruption, would help some, even at this late date.

AT LAKEWOOD

"The Wild Duck" Is This Week's Attraction—Next Week "Parnell"

Edith Barrett, one of Lakewood's favorite guest stars, arrives next Monday to co-star with Vincent Price in her latest Broadway stage success, "Parnell." This will be Miss Barrett's first visit to Lakewood in several seasons and her performance of Katie O'Shea in "Parnell" is said to be her finest portrayal. Vincent Price, whose performance of Hjalmar Ekdal in "The Wild Duck" has won him immediate popularity has been persuaded to remain and play the title role in "Parnell" in which he acted last summer during a temporary vacation from "Victoria Regina."

"Parnell" revolves around the romance of Charles Steward Parnell, the great Irish leader, and Katharine O'Shea, a devotion which brought about his downfall as leader of his party. Interwoven in the story are famous political figures of the '80s, including Gladstone who uses the talk concerning Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea to further his own authority as Briton's prime minister. The play will be one of the most elaborate productions of the season as the settings and the costumes are of half a century ago.

Blanche Yurka's outstanding portrayal of Gina in Ibsen's "The Wild Duck" is drawing excellent audiences to the Lakewood Theatre this week.
